LET US GIVE THANKS:— Blessing and glory, and wisdom and thanksgiving, and honor, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever.—Revelation 7: 12.

No Work, No Eats

Mr. Gompers protests that no man shall be compelled to work. He won't get much support for that theory.
No man should be compelled to work at any particular job at any particular time, but every man should be required to work at something a sufficient time to earn his living and make himself useful to humanity.
There is an ancient rule that "if any man will not work, neither shall he eat." The rule is as good today as it ever was, and all people who earn their livings by honest industry will endorse it.

Furthermore, the man who does not work and insists that no one shall compel him to work, has not the right to determine whether his neighbor shall work. A man may not work and not be hindered "in the pursuit of happiness," providing he doesn't interfere with the well-being of the community. But when he or his family become a burden on the community, the law says that he shall work if he is physically able.

That's the reason we have the "lazy husband" act in this state.

The Police Grouch

Some people say that politeness costs nothing. But is that entirely true?
It is possible that a chronic grouch may at times assume a certain degree of courtesy, but it is invariably at the cost of a tremendous effort.
His natural inclination is to growl, and grumble, and snarl, and such people invariably follow the bent of their inclinations. To suddenly assume an attitude of politeness is foreign to his nature. It requires an effort and no effort is without its cost.
But the greater the cost the more precious the jewel.
Give the polite grouch the credit that is his due.

The Hodge-Podge

By a Paraphraser With a Soul

It is now proposed to create a second League of Nations in the belief, apparently, that it takes two leagues to make a fight.

If Germany had won the war, there would have been no deadlock over reparations; they would have been collected long ago.

Tom Marshall said recently that he did not want to be president. Just another one of his pleasantries.

Some folks' sole reason for keeping clean is to be prepared in case of an accident.

Not all that have hives are bees.

The driver in the good old horse-and-buggy days didn't depend entirely on his own intelligence, which may account for more accidents nowadays.

If we can't get coal this winter, we can at least keep warm under the collar.
